

2008 BRN Symposia

Summary

The BRN Symposium was held at the Renaissance M Street Hotel on March 13-14, 2008, in Washington, D.C. The primary goal of the symposium was to highlight the significant impact of pre-analytical biospecimen variables on cancer research and molecular medicine. The agenda for this meeting included over 23 expert speakers, 300 on-site registrants, and 100 webcast viewers. For more information about this meeting, please see the agenda and presentations, the archived webcasts, and the poster presentations.
